

References

After more than eighteen years of business we try above all, to satisfy the needs of our clients. We remain confident that this is where our competence and strengths lie.

Forward thinking clients

Our clients are forward-thinking companies who know that by developing the language skills of their workforce, Reflecting an uncompromising quality improve. CELT helps them to achieve this.

By ensuring our courses are run by native language speakers with a proven track record in business and technical language training.

The number of high profile companies repeatedly using our language programmes reflects our reputation for uncompromising quality; an approach that is borne out by the many testimonials we receive from satisfied students and HR departments alike.