

Target language audit

CELT's language training programmes are based on the result of a target language audit. This audit consists of two different parts:

Target Level Placement Test – this language audit is based on the Council of Europe's Level Grid for European Languages.

Target Needs Analysis – an analysis of the company's language needs and goals.

The results of this audit are used to:

determine the individual goals of each individual and to plot their training needs and learning styles determine the length of course necessary to bring the student up to a required level determine the language needs specific to the student's position and function in the company

help us divide those who wish to attend CELT's group training programmes into groups of approximately the same target language level and skills
